There is no other remote support software on the market that offers so much and asks so little. Mac HelpMate is a triple threat -it offers cleaning and maintenance, company branding, and of course, zero-configuration remote support. Not only is Mac HelpMate easy on the end user (just a few clicks and they're ready to screen share), it's also easy on the wallet. Other products require a license for each user, while Mac HelpMate allows for a unlimited number of clients, all of them reminded of who you are and how to reach you. Need to clean up? Mac HelpMate saves you the trouble of typing line after line in the terminal by consolidating those commands into an easy-to-use GUI. Never before has such a powerful tool been available at such an accessible price. Boost your efficiency and enhance your productivity all while offering your customers instant conflict resolution. With all these capabilities at this price point, can you afford not to subscribe?
